

Beads & Boos

BEADS: To public officials, elected and otherwise, who take seriously their responsibilities as public servants by ensuring business is conducted, meetings are held and records are maintained -- all according to the letter and spirit of Louisiana's Open Meetings Laws and Public Records Laws. Beads, too, to citizens and civic activists who monitor and push to make sure the public's business is handled correctly.

--On the Web: The Public Affairs Research Council of Louisiana posts information about open meetings and public records online at www.la-par.org.
